HURRICANES, EVACUATIONS, AND VACATION RENTALS

- (1) The first and most important thing to remember is that when state or local authorities order a mandatory evacuation of a coastal area, tenants occupying vacation rental properties must comply with the order. Evacuations are ordered to protect human life and health and are not undertaken lightly. .
- (2) When a vacation tenant complies with an evacuation order, he or she is entitled to a refund of a share of the money he or she has paid for the rental (rent, security deposit, taxes, etc.) prorated for each night the evacuation order was in effect. There is an exception to this rule, however - If the tenant was offered travel insurance that covered the risk of mandatory evacuation, then the owner/property manager has no obligation to refund the tenant's money. To trigger the exception, the cost of the insurance offered cannot exceed 8% of the cost of the vacation rental (unless you purchase a "Cancel For Any Reason" policy).
- (3) If, following the storm, the owner/property manager cannot provide a promised rental property to a vacation rental tenant - whether the reason is that the house was significantly damaged or that it is inaccessible due to damage to or closure of roads - the tenant is entitled to a reasonably comparable property at the same cost. Tenants are encouraged to read and understand the limits of coverage.

BUILDING MAINTENANCE

Repairs and maintenance to buildings are conducted by the Home Owners Association and their property manager. These processes often involve noise and inconvenience. If we are advised in advance of your arrival that any significant work will be under way, we will advise you. However, in most cases, we are not advised before the work is to begin, if then. Most of this work is conducted in the off season, between October 1st and April 1st, unless required due to emergency. It is one of several reasons that rates are substantially lower during those months. These circumstances are beyond our control and knowledge. If your rental is during those months, you may experience noise and inconvenience. Refunds will not be made for noise and inconvenience caused by building maintenance.

We will provide the internet access information that we have, but cannot guarantee the ability of your devices to access the internet. No refund will be paid for WiFi internet access problems.

You assume all responsibility and risk for use of the Service. We will always try to make the wi-fi service available, but it may be interrupted, limited or curtailed due to maintenance and repair work, transmission or equipment limitations/failures, collocation failures or due to an emergency. We are not responsible for data, messages or pages that you may lose or that become misdirected because of interruptions or performance issues with the Service. We reserve the right to immediately and without notice, suspend your access to the Service if we suspect that you are transmitting a virus (or any other manipulating program capable of modifying other programs and replicating itself). Network speed is no indication of the speed at which your Unit connected to the wi-fi service sends or receives data. Actual network speed will vary based on Unit configuration, compression and network congestion.
